Flagstaff Hill Scout Group

What is Scouting all about?

In Scouts, members will learn some basic knowledge about Scouting and their age group's Section when they join, with the support of their Scouting peers and adult Leaders.

The youth program is organised around five age-based Sections. This helps cater to the changing developmental needs of children and young people, promotes personal progression, ensures young people are at the centre of their Scouting journey, and builds a supportive environment.

As your child grows and progresses through Scouting, it is the support from peers that is often a key contributor to a successful transition from one section to the next.

Each Section functions with a peer mentoring system. This helps facilitate transition to the next Section, even before the youth member is ready to move.

As Scouts get older, they will be more and more closely involved with Scouts in the Sections either side of theirs.

All activities in Scouting are implemented using The Scout Method, a framework consisting of eight equally important elements.

Whether it is through community involvement; nature and the outdoors; learning-by-doing; the patrol system; youth leading, adults supporting; personal progression, symbolic framework or the Promise and Law, young people are empowered to set goals and collaborate to achieve them.

Scout Promise and Law

The Promise and Law represent the values for the Scout Movement, which every Scout around the world makes a similar commitment.

Individually, and collectively, all members agree to live their lives guided by the values expressed through the Promise and Law.

The Scout Promise

To Do My Best,
To Be True To My Spiritual Beliefs,
To Contribute To My Community
And Our World,

And To Live By The Scout Law

The Scout Program

Scouts Australia offers a program that provides opportunities for young people to develop life skills with a program that is adventurous, challenging, fun and inclusive.

As your child attends Scouting over the first few weeks this will be explained in much more detail.

Challenge Areas facilitate the core program - Outdoors, Personal Growth, Community and Creative. They are four broad areas which all programming should fit under.

Challenge Areas form part of the requirements for measuring your participation and achievement in Scouting. Through a process of participate-assist-lead, you will be able to record your involvement in the program.

The Program Essentials cover the core Scouting experience. You will complete the Program Essentials through attendance and active participation in the Scout Program. They are your core experience in Scouting;

- Introduction to Scouting (if not completed in an earlier section)
- Introduction to the Scout Section

Milestone achievements through participating in, assisting with and leading activities based on the four Challenge Areas

Outdoor Adventure Skills

Outdoor Adventure Skills gives you opportunities to experience different adventurous activities. Outdoor Adventure Skills helps you learn new adventurous skills.

There are 9 different OAS areas: Bushwalking, Bushcraft, Camping, Apline, Aquatics, Boating, Cycling, Paddling and Vertical.

The Scout Program

Special Interest Areas

You choose activity or project ideas that interest you, and set your own goals using Plan>Do>Review>!

There are six different Special Interest Areas: Adventure & Sport, Arts & Literature, Creating a Better World, Environment, Growth & Development and STEM & Innovation.

Recording progress through the Scout Program
When you join your family will be provided access to our digital system, Scouts|Terrain, which will be how progress through the program is recorded. There are also record books available as a resource at the Scout Hall to use.

Behaviour

Our program provides a framework that encourages all youth members to develop and achieve. All young people should have access to these experiences and to be part of a supportive and respectful environment.

We have a basic framework for behaviour that includes:

- Promoting a positive and fun learning environment.
- Promoting the physical and psychological safety of all involved people.
- Promoting positive life skills such as respect for others, responsibility for own behaviour, politeness and doing your best.
- Promoting positive morals such as empathy, kindness, helpfulness and tolerance.

Each of our Sections has a Unit Code which outlines the behaviours and consequences.

Flagstaff Hill Scout Group

Finance and Fundraising

Scout Groups are entirely self-funded. Major costs include utilities and maintenance for the Scout Hall, badges, equipment maintenance, registration, insurance and leader training.

All of this adds up to over $60,000 per year at Flagstaff Hill, and we rely on membership fees to fund these essentials.

The Group organises a number of fundraising activities throughout the year to make up any shortfall in our operating costs and to allow us to upgrade resources and equipment such as tents, ropes, cooking gear, games equipment, etc. The only ongoing, fixed expense to families is that of the annual fees.

The nature of our program means that there will, from time to time, be camps, hikes etc, normally over 2 or 3 days, which your child will no doubt want to attend.

The cost, which covers items like food, accommodation etc., of these activities is an extra expense to yourself but you can be sure that we carefully aim to keep the price of such activities to a minimum – and we believe that these activities offer great value for money!

Fundraising

Our Scout Group maintains a regular fundraising program to provide funds for equipment, facilities and much more! The support of all members and their families in these fundraising activities is required.

Our fundraising activities are varied and provide opportunities for all - from Quiz nights which are a great social activity to Bunnings Sausage Sizzles which get us out in the local community! Keep an eye on our communication channels for details on the next fundraiser coming up.

Membership Fees

Fundraising Levy

For those not able to participate in our fundraising opportunities, we have a Fundraising Levy that applies to all families.
